AGRICULTURAL.

G. M. Fogg, of Kingman, sends us, by request, the following account of his farm crops for 1879: 12 tons of hay; 12 tons of straw; 461 bushels oats; 80 bush. wheat, Lost Nation; 40 bush buckwheat; 375 bush. potatoes, ½ Rose; 75 bush. beets; 65 bush. turnips; 9 bush. carrots; 8 bush. beans; 24 bush. peas; 100 cabbages. The above was gathered this fall. Mr. Fogg says: "The farm made from standing trees in two years. I am not here wholly for farming; my business is making last blocks. The land looked so well I thought I would try my luck. I am well pleased with returns. I suppose some of the readers of the WHIG AND COURIER would like to know how much I had to plant to get this crop. I sowed 32½ bushels of oats, 10 bushels of wheat; planted 35 bushels of potatoes, ½ bushel beans, ½ bushel peas. Now what is the use of going West when there are thousands of acres of good land here in Penobscot County lying idle. I have spent $384.80 in board and labor, and have 18 acres ready for next year. I now intend to make 125,000 last blocks this winter, and think I have raised all the produce my men and horses will consume.

R. W. Hinch, Esq., of East Hampden, sends us the following statement in regard to his wheat crop in 1879: From two and one-half bushels, sown on about three and one-half acres of ground, Mr. Henry Robinson, of Hampden, threshed and measured from the machine, ninety-one bushels, which is a little over sixteen and one-half from the bushel sowing. The seed was taken to a separator, and thoroughly cleaned from all broken and blasted kernels, and also, all foreign seeds, except an occasional one of barley; thus my seed was perfect almost to a grain. It was sown at three different times, I think, between the 10th and 20th of May, on different parcels of ground, one acre and a half which was broken in the fall preceding, well dressed and cultivated in with a Randall harrow. The remainder was land on which potatoes had been raised the year previous. A part of this was plowed soon after the crop was taken off, and well surface dressed. On the rest I put coarse dressing, and plowed it under last spring, and cultivated all with a Randall harrow. As between the wheat on the ground plowed in the fall and spring, I could perceive no difference; but as between that on the old ground and that broken as above, there was a difference in favor of the former. The weevil injured the tops of the heads to quite an extent, and my opinion is, that had it not been for this pest, the yield would have been fully twenty fold. The variety is "Lost Nation." It is said that this wheat does not make so white flour as some other varieties. It certainly makes good flour; and I consider it the surest and best yielding wheat with which I am acquainted.

A correspondent, writing to Miller's Weekly of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, gives the following description of a farm that he was invited to examine. What a country this would be if the majority of the country homes were modeled after this pattern: "A short time since, at the request of a friend, I visited a farm which he had some idea of purchasing. It was a long distance from home, yet there was no difficulty in finding the premises. The buildings were old, but comfortable. A small outlay in cash and labor would have made things much more attractive and convenient. In the barn we found a large pair of horses did all the team work of the farm, seven nice cows and as many good sheep, all of which showed the effects of good care and feed. The owner informed me that one of his specialties was making good butter, which brought an extra price in the village, a mile distant. He fed pigs on the skim milk and generally at a profit. The farm embraced an area of about twenty-five acres. It was seldom or never my good fortune to look on so productive a tract. The produce this year was estimated at thirty tons of hay of the best quality. On three-fourths of an acre twenty bushels of wheat were harvested. A lot was filled with corn, which yielded nearly a hundred bushels of shelled corn to the acre, sixty bushels of oats, and about the same of potatoes, besides the fruit such as apple and peach orchard; all from the twenty-five acres. The owner informed me that he came there twenty years ago, at that time being a man of middle age. He made a small payment, and went into debt for the remainder. The land was naturally good; he has steadily improved it. In the time he had not bought any flour with the exception of one year when the weevils destroyed the wheat crop. He had never bought any manure; had raised grain enough for his own use, and generally sold some. His cash expenses were only for taxes, groceries and clothing. He had attended to his own business and accumulated considerable wealth. His farm was small; he could do most of his own work; and he pursued the mixed system; raising nearly everything he consumed. A competence and the weight of three score and ten years are his reasons for selling. After leaving him, I was led to reflect on the great benefit to the country which would have resulted, could a majority of those who have left the farm for the cities have remained contentedly at home and labored intelligently at home as this man has done. All would not have achieved as signal success. Yet a great many who to-day are penniless and in abject poverty might have owned and occupied pleasant homes, surrounded by almost every comfort attainable in this life." And the same might be said with as much truth of the "great many" who have run in debt for large farms and failed to pay for them.

M. L. Leland, of Piscataquis Co., says: Apples are deemed so essential in the family economy, both as an article of food and a luxury, that a farm, however desirable in other respects, lacking an orchard capable of producing apples sufficient at least for the needs of the family, is not considered fully satisfactory. This well nigh universal demand for fruit has opened a wide and profitable field for the irrepressible Western fruit-tree agent, who with a glib tongue and highly colored plates of real or often imaginary fruits has secured from the hard-earned toils of the farmer's rich harvest, for this section of country. And still the trade goes on. There are, each season, those ready to try again some new phase of the same traffic only to result in still more failures.

Let it be understood that I write from the section classed in the pomological divisions of Maine as the northern division, although geographically it is very nearly the centre of the State; also let it be understood that the northern sections of Maine are not considered so well adapted to fruit culture as more southern portions of the State or of New England. Residents in this section are and have been familiar with the orchards—often of large extent—found upon nearly every farm, knowing their history either from memory or from the oft-repeated story of our fathers who planted them in the narrow clearing seventy years or more ago, with trees raised at home or brought upon their backs from some neighbor's clearing. The trees when planted out in the virgin soil grew as thriftily as the native maples and birches. Although now thinner in numbers, and broken and scarred, yet they produce fruit abundantly, but of inferior quality.

The success attending these early efforts seem to prove that the climate and soil of this section are well adapted to orchards. When home-grown trees have been planted out in suitable soils in more recent years, the same or nearly equal success has attended the enterprise.

Having observed the success with home-grown trees, and noted the failures with Western trees, when entering upon my present farm, fifteen years ago, I obtained one hundred and fifty seedling trees, two years' growth, and splice-grafted them. Most of these succeeded; a few, having been grafted to varieties not well adapted to this climate, failed.

Recent experience has taught me that, with a limited number of varieties, splice or root grafting succeeds as well as any other mode of working. With other desirable varieties top-grafting or grafting in the limbs succeeds much better. Of the varieties thus succeeding by the method of root grafting may be named Red Astrachan, Duchess of Oldenburg, Fameuse, Tolman's Sweet, Blue Pearmain and probably other varieties; these are the popular varieties that I have proven.

Wishing to engage quite largely in orcharding some ten years ago, I sowed a nursery, from which I have selected the best trees when three and four years old, planting them out in rows twenty feet distant each way. After growing one year I commenced the work of grafting, selecting enough limbs in the right position to form the future top, grafting only a part of these the first year, more or less, just according to the thrift and other conditions of the tree. In three years I had the whole top changed, and all wood not wanted for grafting cut away.

With home-grown trees set in orchard rows, grafted in the limbs with hardy varieties and properly cared for, I have now a young, thrifty orchard, without any outlay of cash. I feel so well satisfied with the result that I would advise others to do likewise.

The value of foreign exports from Portland the past week was $720,531.80. The exports included 80,882 bushels peas, 41,561 bushels rye, and 113,080 bushels wheat.

The quarterly convention of the Reform Clubs of Cumberland county will be held at South Windham, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 30th and 31st.

A little girl living in Portland, while sliding was run into by a big sled loaded with boys and badly hurt. Her lower jaw teeth were all laid bare on one side of her face.

The Portland Argus says: A woman was arrested for drunkenness Saturday night, who has succeeded in getting her husband's property, some $7,000, into her hands, and he alleges now attempts to make life such a burden as to lead him to apply for a divorce. She has two children, both small, and carries on in a very high manner when in liquor.

George Moffit, who claims to be blind and to belong in Calais, has disappeared from his boarding-house in Portland, and a woman named Emma Heath is said to have gone with him.

The house on Winter street, Portland, formerly owned by John O. Winship, has been bought by Edward B. Cram, Esq., who will soon move there from Deering.

Last week Mrs. Eugene Duchemel of Portland, went away and left her child, a little more than a month old, with her sister, Mrs. Frank C. Small. Saturday night she went to bed with the babe, taking it on her arm. Sunday morning about six she awoke, and found the child gasping, and it lived but a few moments. It had not been sick before. Coroner Dennis Tobin was called, and ordered a post-mortem examination, which took place Monday morning.

Mr. Thomas Herbert, a carpenter, living in Portland, has been ill for some time with kidney trouble. Saturday night he retired as well as his usual health, and at six o'clock Sunday morning he was dead.

Saturday a merchant in Portland drove his horse down to the store and put him up in the shed in the rear. In the afternoon the merchant walked home. Between 1 and 2 a. m. Sunday two police officers found the horse in the shed and the hitch weight frozen to the ground. They took the horse to Sawyer's stable, and, in the morning, notified the owner. He was greatly astonished as he supposed he carried the horse to the stable where he boards him.

York.

A boy named Smith, about 14 years of age, belonging in Saco, died at the Reform School suddenly Saturday morning. Coroner Gould was summoned and acting under the advice of a physician ordered a post mortem examination. The cause of the boy's death was heart disease.

The new year opens with a very easy money market, and an increasing satisfaction and confidence in business circles. Ten successive years of great prosperity are now predicted for this country.

In a town not a thousand miles from the "Hub," a gentleman was invited home to dinner, one day, one of the deacons of the church which he attended. Being seated at a table the guest was asked to offer a blessing, which he did. This proceeding greatly excited the curiosity of the gentleman's little three-year-old son, who sat beside the deacon and interviewed him on the subject. "What was that you said?" he began. "It was a blessing on the food we are about to eat," replied the deacon. "A what?" "Why a blessing. Don't your father ask a blessing at the table?" "Yes, yes, but he don't say it that way." "How does he say it?" "Why, he sits down and looks at the table and says: 'O, the d—l! is this all you've got for dinner.'" There was no embarrassment.

A man, building character, must break bond, as a bricklayer. His thoughts, purposes, and actions, must interlap and interlock, cross over each other, and be sealed by brotherly love. He must build in much for strength, and little for show. Comparatively few bricks go into the street-side wall of a house. The material that composes the rear walls, gables, and cross partitions must be as firmly burnt and carefully laid in as the stencilled rows that face the thoroughfares. So a man must make himself strong, not merely in a single trait or truth, but build his character through and through by plumb and level. He must square himself up heavenward, by well-adjusted proportions of reading, business, meditation, and religion. His works must measure up even against his words.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 14, 1880.

Garcelon Impeached by his Own Bogus Senate.

The most significant act of either branch of the Fusionists' pretended Legislature, is the direct repudiation and impeachment of Garcelon's "counting-out" methods by the bogus Senate that he tried by fraud to create. On Monday, Messrs. Atwell, of Penobscot, Lian, of Somerset, Thompson of Knox and Barrett, of Oxford, as a committee on Gubernatorial votes reported that they had examined the returns and that the whole vote for Governor was 138,807, with 69,404 necessary to a choice; that Daniel F. Davis had 68,770; Joseph L. Smith, 47,640; Alonzo Garcelon, 21,644; Sion Bradbury, 363, and 391 scattering. Of the latter 202 were obviously meant for Mr. Davis so that his total vote was 68,972 or only 432 votes short of a clear majority over all other candidates!

But the significant fact is that Garcelon's so-called Senate—the very body that would be empowered, according to their own claim, to sit as judges in an impeachment of the Governor for abuse of his office—have repudiated and practically condemned the methods by which eight certificates were wrongfully issued to make a fraudulent fusion majority. For Garcelon's Senate declare the vote for Governor as they find it in the returns and substantially as reported in the newspapers shortly after election; and by thus declaring the Governor vote they virtually declare that the throwing out of tens of thousands of votes because only three Aldermen signed the returns, or on a charge of a distinguishing mark on the ballot, or any other of the flimsy pretexts resorted to by the Governor and Council, is entirely unjustifiable.

In no case have the Senate assumed to throw out votes on the grounds put forth by the Governor and Council in support of their villainous action. In effect they declare that the votes of the cities and other places that have been disfranchised by the Governor and Council as regards the Legislature, are justly entitled to be counted by the Senate for Governor, and therefore for the other candidates whose names were on the same ballots, and in the same returns.

If the Gubernatorial vote has been honestly counted by Garcelon's Senate, then that Senate denounces Garcelon as a fraud, for rejecting returns which his Senate declare it is their duty to count for Governor, and also repudiate the claims of all their counted-in associates, who have obtained certificates only through the wholesale throwing out of such returns as are now declared valid for Governor. In the acceptance of that report on Gubernatorial votes the Fusionists have confessed the impudence of their present attitude, and at the same time firmly fixed the brand of fraud upon Garcelon and his infamous Council!

The Appeal to the Court.

That the Republican party is essentially a law and order party has again been proved by their quiet appeal to the highest judicial tribunal to decide who and what constitute the Legislature of Maine.

With the State thrown into political anarchy by the monstrous fraud of a Fusion Governor and Council, the Republicans elected to the Legislature have carried self-restraint almost beyond the limits of endurance, and while aggravated in every way by the arrogant pretensions of a lot of persons holding stolen credentials in either branch, our friends have resolved to test the questions at issue in the traditional New England way, by invoking the decision of the Court.

The Fusionists who were so furious over the recent opinions of the Supreme Court, are even more furious now in denouncing the Republicans for again appealing to the Court. The people, however, understand just why the Fusionist conspirators are so hostile to Courts and Laws and Justice, and will appreciate the quiet, orderly methods resorted to by the Republicans in this important crisis.

The sudden outpouring of torrents of abuse upon General Chamberlain by the worst of the Fusion organs will also be appreciated by the intelligent and respectable public, as another evidence of the hostility of the conspirators to any one who tries to preserve public order and secure the supremacy of the laws.

DE LA MATYR.

[From the N. Y. Evening Post.]

If the adage that men are known by the company they keep is applied to the Rev. Representative De La Matyr and other personally respectable Greenbackers who have lately been in conference with Mr. Denis Kearney at Washington they must not complain. The California statesman, addressing his associates yesterday, described national bank directors as "iron-headed scoundrels, should in hell," and as "thieves and vagabonds." He said that he was in favor of sending them "to the lowest regions of hell,"—and that "if the American people had any courage they would hang John Sherman." He further and pleasantly mentioned "the national authorities" as "crawling, creeping serpents." Among the men who by their presence and failure to protest against it tolerated and approved this vulgar and violent harangue was the Rev. Representative De La Matyr, who "in ministerial robes" read a call for a national convention. He should for decency's sake at least drop the "Rev." and the "robes." Kearney himself would be unworthy of notice, but it is well to remember that the men who give the Greenback party whatever of form and force it has are his political companions; and that it is for the purpose of putting his associates in power in Maine that the Democratic party in that State has merged itself in the Greenback party.

The Anarchy Which the Fusion Leaders have Brought upon the State.

[From the Kennebec Journal.]

To the Republican Advisory Committee:

As counsel to the committee it is my duty to call your attention and that of the public to the anarchy to which the Fusion leaders have brought the State in four days of Legislative rule by defying the Constitution, parliamentary law, and the unanimous decision of the Supreme Court.

THE STATE HAS NO GOVERNOR.

No successor to Gov. Garcelon has been or can be legally chosen by the Legislature as at present organized and fraudulently made up. Mr. Lamson, the acting President of the alleged Senate has once publicly disclaimed all authority or power under the Constitution to perform any of the duties of Governor. He has acquired no new authority, since his public disclaimer. The obstacles to his right are:

1st. The office of Governor has not this year "become vacant" in the language of the Constitution, because it has not been filled. The President of the Senate is not empowered to act whenever the office of Governor "shall be vacant," but when it "shall become vacant."

The opinion in the 6th Maine Rep. 506, was by a divided court and did not raise the question in controversy here.

2nd. There is no legal body or officer before whom under the Constitution even a lawful President of the Senate can be qualified as Governor. No Joint Convention can be held without a quorum of each branch separately vote to go into Joint Convention. It is not pretended that this was had. Mr. Lamson qualified before an illegal officer in an unconstitutional Convention, and the proclamation was made by a Secretary of State whose term of office, as will be seen, expired on Wednesday last.

3rd. Worse than all Mr. Lamson is not the legal President of a constitutional Senate, because it will be apparent on examination that

THERE IS NO LEGAL SENATE.

The body at present acting as a Senate was not organized by such members as the Constitution commands.

It is true that under the Revised Statutes, ch. 2, sec. 21-23, no one can take part in the organization of a legal Senate or House of Representatives but those certificated but it is equally true that by the Constitution which is above all statutes no one can be certificated by the Governor and Council, unless he appears by the returns to be elected. It is the Constitution that must be obeyed and if this or any other statute permits men to organize a Senate or House who do not appear by the returns and records to be elected, that statute is unconstitutional and void and the Supreme Court, it is submitted, could not regard it a moment.

According to the unanimous decision of the Supreme Judiciary of the State the Governor and Council issued certificates to eight men in the Senate and seventeen in the House, who did not appear by the returns to be elected. The men thus summoned contrary to the Constitution and the decision of the Court by excluding those entitled under the Constitution and the decision of the Court, took part in and effected the organization of both branches and thus vitiated all proceedings ab initio.

It would not be contended for a moment, that men whose names did not appear at all on the returns and for whom no votes were cast, could legally organize a Senate or House, even though they held certificates. But if the Governor and Council can issue no valid certificates to men whom the voters have not had before them as candidates, how much less to those whom the voters have passed on and rejected! Therefore also

THERE IS NO LEGAL HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

This indeed is not denied by the Fusionists themselves. No vote recorded or unrecorded shows the presence of more than seventy four (74) members, two less than the legal quorum fixed by the Constitution as declared by the Court, and yet they assumed to choose all their officers and day after day enact the farce of legislation without that quorum which the Constitution makes indispensable to the smallest Legislative act.

Now, however, they do nothing but meet and adjourn and thus acknowledge their own illegality and impotence. The State has

NO COUNCIL, SECRETARY OF STATE OR TREASURER.

These officers by the Constitution are all chosen annually." Their terms of office are not otherwise fixed.

By a careful reading of the Constitution, as it originally stood, and comparison with the various amendments since passed, it will appear beyond a doubt that the terms of office of all the officers above named begin with the first Wednesday of January in the year of their election and end at the same date in the succeeding year, so that each of these offices is now vacant.

The Constitution, as originally adopted, in 1820, prescribed in the same language as now the "annual election" of the officers above named, but in that Constitution was the additional provision, Art. 10, Sec. 5, found in R. S. page 41.

"Sec. 5. The period for which the Governor, * * * Councillors, Secretary "and Treasurer, first elected or appointed "are to serve in their respective offices and "places, shall commence on the last "Wednesday in May in the year of our "Lord one thousand eight hundred and "twenty and continue until the first "Wednesday of January in the year of "our Lord one thousand eight hundred "and twenty two."

This especially fixes the first Wednesday of January 1822 as the day on which the terms of the first State officers expired and the election being "annual" each succeeding officer held one year from that date.

This was expressly decided by Mr. Justice Parris in 6 Maine Rep. 506 as to Governor and Councillors. And as to all the State officers this was the construction stamped on the Constitution by its framers and by their successors for thirty years, as appears conclusively by the following amendment adopted March 18, 1844, (Amendments to Constitution Art. 5, R. S. pages 47 and 48) by which the various articles and sections of the Constitution "are "so far altered or amended as that the "words 'the second Wednesday of May' "are substituted for the words 'the first "Wednesday of January' in each of said "sections; and the provisions of the Constitution are so far altered or amended, "as, that the Governor and other State "officers elected for the political year, "commencing on the first Wednesday of "January in the year of our Lord one "thousand eight hundred and forty-five, "shall hold their offices till the second "Wednesday of May in the year of our "Lord one thousand eight hundred and "forty-six."

Also Amendment, Article 8, adopted August 21st, 1850, found R. S. pages, 48 and 49, by which the various articles and sections of the Constitution "are so far altered and amended, as that the words "'the first Wednesday of January,' are "substituted for the words 'second Wednesday of May,' in each of said sections; "and the provisions of the Constitution are "so far altered and amended as that the "Governor and other State officers elected "for the political year, commencing on the second Wednesday of May, eighteen hundred and fifty-one, shall hold their offices "till first Wednesday of January, eighteen "hundred fifty-three."

Thus stands the Constitution to-day. Each State officer elected in 1852, dated his term from the first Wednesday of January, and every succeeding State officer to the present time has done the same.

The result is that all the old State officers went out of office on the first Wednesday of January last past, and the State has now no Governor to execute its laws, no Council to advise, no Secretary of State to guard its archives, no Treasurer to hold its funds, no Attorney General to prosecute for crime and no Legislature in either branch which can pass a measure, levy a tax or enact a law, which any citizen is bound to obey.

Is it not time that the men whom the people have elected, as appears by the returns themselves, should assemble, and in an orderly and peaceful manner establish a legal government in the State of Maine?

ORVILLE D. BAKER.

"COMMON SENSE."

[From the Chicago Times, Ind.-Dem.]

The unanimous answer of the Justices of the Maine Supreme Court to the long series of interrogatories which Gov. Garcelon was bull-dozed into submitting to them will afford that would-be dictator of a state very slight consolation. On nearly every point submitted the justices deny the right of the Governor and Council to act as they have done. The justices assume that the intent of the Constitution and the laws is to enable every legal voter to vote once, and to have his vote counted, and most people will be struck with the large amount of common sense in the answers they have given.

These be troublous times for the Democratic editor. In his efforts to be on the winning side in the Maine contest he is having a terrible struggle, and already begins to exhibit an air of weariness. And no wonder. Any man who attempts to prove in the same paragraph that Garcelon was right, that the decision of the Supreme Court is sound Democratic doctrine and that the Court was packed with Republican judges, has a right to feel tired. That literary bureau should be put in operation again, so as to relieve the perplexed editor, and enable the Democratic organs to grind out more harmonious tunes.

The Maine despatches show that Mr. Blaine's house, at the time of the alleged bribery, was overrun at all hours of the day and night with lots of two hundred politicians. But the Fusionists don't allow little circumstances like that to stand in their way. It is a wonder that they did not charge him with committing the crime in the presence of a whole mass-meeting of Fusionist witnesses.—N. Y. Tribune.

An edifying dispute has been begun between Dr. Russell, correspondent of the London Telegraph, and Sir Garnet Wolseley. The army officer accuses Russell of having manufactured certain of his dispatches out of the whole cloth. It is quite likely. Bull Run Russell is that kind of a man.

The report that the wife of Bismarck was summoned to Varzin, because he was rapidly sinking, is contradicted by cable from Berlin. Her going was, it is learned, merely because the term of her visit at Berlin had expired. The dispatch adds that Bismarck is still suffering from neuralgia, which seems to have been selected as the official designation for his malady. This is believed to be of much more serious nature, and the recurrence of the subject now recalls the long duration of Bismarck's illness, and of his enforced retirement from affairs, which furnishes foundation for the reports of his critical condition.

The Chicago grain trade is suffering from a plethora. Prices had been forced up by speculators, and supply stimulated to such an extent that over fourteen million bushels are now in the Chicago elevators. The railroads are refusing to accept any more grain, because the storage room is all used up, and the expediency of building more elevators is being discussed. The trouble is that the Liverpool quotations leave no margin for shipment at present, and the operators are holding on for a rise.

Late advices from the City of Mexico say that a Mormon agent has arrived there from Salt Lake expecting to establish a settlement of his people there, with a guarantee of religious liberty. He must be very ignorant of that country or he would never have entertained the idea of founding a colony within its tumultuous borders. What benefit will there be to him, or to anybody, in a guarantee of religious or any other sort of liberty down there? Guarantees may be had without number, but they are absolutely worthless. Nobody keeps a covenant in Mexico; nobody can, indeed. Every kind of compact, however solemn, is broken there as a matter of course and of continuous revolution.

Lamson Wants to be Recognized

As Acting Governor.

Gen. Chamberlain's Firm Refusal.

The Fusionist Plans.

The Bogus Legislature.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 13. Both branches of "the Legislature" quietly assembled without disturbance, the Republicans showing themselves in both branches. The night at the Capitol passed very quietly, there being no disturbance. A full guard is on.

The only thing irregular this morning was when C. W. Martin attempted to pass the guard in defiance of the police regulations and was summarily handled by the police.

The Fusionists are very reticent about expressing their opinion of the events of last night. They seem surprised and are entirely unwilling to converse upon the subject.

The Alleged Bribery Case.

Wallace R. White, whose card of denial of bribery has been published, has been summoned before "the bribery committee," but refuses to appear. The following is his card:

To Henry Ingalls, Chairman of the Investigating Committee:

I have received your summons to appear before your committee charged with the investigation of the alleged bribery of [illegible] Swan and Moses Harriman. I decline to appear for the reason that you are not competent to send for persons and papers and not competent to administer a legal oath. Witnesses before you could swear to anything without incurring the hazard of a prosecution for perjury. If Swan and Harriman had secured a bribe they would naturally swear falsely about it and if they merely put up a job they would be still more likely to testify falsely. When I meet them I want it to be before a tribunal that has the power to enforce its decrees and to administer punishment. Your House of Representatives is illegally organized or not organized at all, and if you have any doubt on that point I shall be glad to have you arrest me for contempt and then have the authority of your proceedings tested by a writ of habeas corpus before the Supreme Judicial Court. If I am not sustained by that tribunal I shall cheerfully appear before your committee.

WALLACE R. WHITE.

A Fusion Scheme.

In "the Senate" a petition was presented signed by Zenas Cook and 163 others for a bridge across the Georges River at Friendship. "The House" transacted no business whatever. The reported scheme of electing State officers and Governor has apparently been abandoned, both parties seeming willing to await the decision of the Supreme Court before proceeding further. Lamson who claims to be acting Governor has as yet performed no official act that at all interferes with the prerogatives of Gen. Chamberlain. The House took a recess until 3 o'clock P. M.

[illegible]

AUGUSTA, Jan. 13. The following orders have just been issued. Gen. Chamberlain refuses to recognize Lamson as Governor:

STATE OF MAINE, EXECUTIVE DEP'T,
AUGUSTA, Jan. 13, 1880.

Joshua L. Chamberlain, Major-General, commanding:

Dear Sir—Having entered on the duties of Governor of Maine under critical circumstances, it is important for me to understand whether you are prepared to recognize my authority as such.

Respectfully, (Signed)
JAMES D. LAMSON, Governor.

STATE OF MAINE,
AUGUSTA, Jan. 13, 1880.

To the Honorable James D. Lamson:

Sir—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication informing me that you have entered upon the duties of Governor and desiring to know if I am prepared to recognize your authority as such. The gravity of the situation and the importance of my answer to your question demand that I should give to it the most careful attention. I am acting under authority devolved on me by virtue of the following order:

STATE OF MAINE,
AUGUSTA, Jan. 5, 1880.

Special Orders No. 45.

Major-General J. L. Chamberlain is hereby authorized and directed to protect the public property and institutions of the State until my successor is duly qualified.

(Signed) ALONZO GARCELON,
Governor.

A. D. LEAVITT, Adj.-Gen.

In the aspect which things have now taken the responsibility resting on me under this order involves the liberties of the people, their most sacred property, and the authority of constitutional government, their highest [illegible]. I am thankful that you feel and understand this and realize equally with myself the importance of proceeding with caution. Your inquiry virtually calls upon me to decide a question of constitutional law, which is a matter falling not at all within the province of my department. In my military capacity I have not the privilege of submitting such questions to the only tribunal competent to decide them.

The Constitution declares that the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court shall be obliged to give their opinion upon important questions of law and upon solemn occasions when required by the civil branches of the Government, but that privilege is not accorded to the military department.

Supported by the decision of the Court I should obey without a moment's hesitation, but solemnly believing that if at this juncture I abandon my trust there will be no barrier against anarchy and bloodshed I cannot under present circumstances recognize your authority as Governor of Maine.

There are only two ways to settle the questions at issue and agitating the public, by following strictly the Constitution and the Laws, or by revolution and bloodshed. In this alternative and standing where I must be judged by God and man, I can only hold fast in my place and implore those who have the power to decide these questions by appeal to the peaceful course of law.

Believing that this answer must commend itself to your judgment as the only one possible for me to give, and with highest respect and esteem, I have the honor to be your obedient servant.

(Signed) J. L. CHAMBERLAIN,
Maj. Gen'l.

A FAMOUS ISLAND. The crew of the bark [illegible] of Portland, which was burned at sea last October, landed on the island of Juan Fernandez, four hundred miles off the Chilian coast, which is celebrated for having been the residence of the castaway Alexander Selkirk for four years. Selkirk's adventures there formed the basis of the famous story of Robinson Crusoe. The island is [illegible] miles long by six broad, has steep shores and rises to 3,000 feet above the sea. There are some fertile valleys in its northern part, producing figs, grapes, sandal wood, oats and timber. The island is leased from Chili by settlers, so that it is not now entirely uninhabited as in Selkirk's time.

PENOBSCOT CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Semi-Annual Meeting.

The 54th semi-annual meeting was held with the First church, Bangor, commencing January 13, at 10 A. M., with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. C. S. Sargent, [illegible] John 13th chapter was read, after which the congregation united in singing "Rock of Ages." Prayers were then offered by Messrs. Beckwith, Sewall, Speare and Sargent. Remarks by the leader and Dea. [illegible]. The exercises closed by singing "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

At 11 o'clock the Moderator, Dea. G. A. Snow, of Brewer, called for the credentials of delegates and they were enrolled. In the absence of the Scribe, James A. Dole, of Bangor, was chosen Scribe pro tem. The Moderator [illegible] Rev. Dr. Sewall opened the discussion of the topic, "How to Study the Bible," presenting in a forcible and impressive manner [illegible]. Additional remarks were added by Revs. [illegible] and Speare, and Mr. J. L. Crosby.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The devotional services with which the session commenced were conducted by Rev. A. Redlon. At half-past two Rev. Dr. Field ably opened a discussion upon the value and importance of the books on missions in Sabbath School libraries and in families.

Rev. Mr. Speare and Rev. F. G. Snow, lately Missionary in Micronesia, followed with interesting and instructive remarks upon the same subject.

A committee consisting of Rev. A. G. Fish, Deacons Bourne and Thacher were appointed a committee to report a place and preacher for the annual meeting in June.

Reports were then made from the churches in the Conference by the delegates. [illegible]

[illegible] COUNTY EXPENSES.

Sums Necessary to Defray Expenses for 1880.

The County Commissioners have been in session for the past two days and have adjourned till the first Tuesday in February. The following is their estimate of the sums necessary to defray the expenses and pay the indebtedness of Penobscot County which has accrued and which may accrue for the year 1880:

[illegible]	[illegible]
Salary of Judge of Probate,	[illegible]
Salary of Register of Probate,	[illegible]
Salary of [illegible]	[illegible]
Salary of Clerk of Courts,	[illegible]

Damages on location of roads,	[illegible] 00
Fuel, gas, water and repair of County buildings,	2,000 00

As but one-half the County tax for 1880 will come due in that year we think the above estimate of $41,000 the least sum that ought to be assessed.
